On The Rise

As costs rose, so did the need for Open Hand’s services.

We rose to the challenge.
Rising to the Challenge

Open Hand Atlanta is serving more people now than ever before in our 30-year history. Last year, we made our biggest impact yet by serving nearly 1.5 million meals to our underserved, medically fragile neighbors in metro Atlanta and throughout Georgia.

We hear daily from clients expressing their gratitude for the health-promoting meals Open Hand delivers — meals that would not be possible without the generous support of our community that helps make such a life-changing difference to those we are privileged to serve.

The need for our essential services continues to hit all-time highs, and we’re working hard to serve and empower more individuals and families to live healthier, happier lives with dignity. In 2022, we’re projected to once again serve well over a million meals and impact even more at-risk Georgians through our Cooking Matters classes, Medical Nutrition Therapy, and other crucial nutrition education programs.

It is so rewarding to be able to serve so many people who need our help. We envision a future where anyone who needs access to medically tailored meals or healthy groceries in Georgia or the Southeast has ease of access regardless of ability to pay. Because everyone deserves love, dignity and nutrition.

At Open Hand, we understand there are many organizations worthy of your financial support and we appreciate every dollar you choose to invest with us. Food is medicine, and with you by our side as a continued partner, we can show even more of our friends and neighbors that food is love.

With humble and grateful hearts,

Matthew Pieper, Executive Director | Shirley Powell, 2021-22 Board Chair
FOOD IS MEDICINE

Improving health outcomes with accessible nutrition

Chronic illnesses and nutrition sensitive diseases such as diabetes, heart disease, cancer and HIV/AIDS are rampant in Georgia. More than 90% of our clients come from historically marginalized backgrounds, contributing to a lack of access to good nutrition and creating adverse health outcomes. In Georgia, access to medically tailored meals is extremely limited. We are working on changing that.

1,453,900 medically-tailored, home-delivered and congregate meals served.

4,530 clients received home-delivered meals.

6,022 served at the Jesse Hill Market.

Jesse Hill Market

Good food is important for good health. Everyone needs high quality food and nutrition to meet their health goals, but not everyone has equal access. The Jesse Hill Market at Grady Hospital has fresh produce to fill produce prescriptions and sells nourishing, affordable grab and go meals. There is a teaching kitchen where patients of the Food as Medicine Prescription Program at Grady take cooking classes hosted by registered dietitians.
“Open Hand’s meals contributed in a profound way to my recovery. I would not be sitting here today without Open Hand, their volunteers, and these spectacular meals.” - David

“This time last year, I was able to do a lot for myself, but since I’ve had some health issues, Open Hand delivering my meals has really come in handy. Just having that interaction with the volunteers for a few minutes once a week is fun because they’re very, very kind, sweet people. It’s just been a blessing.” - Ms. T

“I love to cook, though it’s a bit more difficult for me now. And I can’t get to the grocery store nearly as often as I used to. But I still like to discover new recipes and share them with my four sisters. I’m fortunate and grateful to have Open Hand. They treat me like family. And with my medical and dental bills getting very costly, Open Hand has helped me to save enough to be able to take care of them. It’s been a wonderful thing.” - Betty
Cultivating healthy food choices

Open Hand’s evidence-based nutrition education programs are designed to empower patients and caregivers to take control of their health. Nutrition education is offered to at-risk individuals from all walks of life.

5,044 boxes of fresh produce provided by Cooking Matters for Healthcare Partners to class participants to reinforce healthy nutrition habits.

259 clients received nutrition consults through our telehealth portal, Healthie.

“I enrolled in Cooking Matters because I’ve always liked to be in the kitchen. In fact, I had my own spot in the kitchen in my mom’s house and in my grandmother’s house. Food has just always been a part of my life. But I knew there were still a lot of things I could learn so that I could provide healthier options for my family. And believe me, I did learn a lot.” - Erica
YOUR SUPPORT

The growing impact of volunteerism

At Open Hand, people from all walks of life come together to touch the lives of thousands of others who are not as fortunate. And our volunteers have a lot of fun in the process. Without the dedication of each and every one of these incredible people, we simply could not do our very necessary work in our community.

40 organizations partnered with Open Hand.

13,495 volunteer hours were served.
A LEGACY OF NUTRITION FOR ALL

We started as friends caring for friends, and that’s who we still are today.

We began as a small group of friends more than 30 years ago who gathered to cook meals for their neighbors and loved ones disenfranchised by HIV/AIDS. Since then, guided by a mission of compassion and service, our organization has expanded to meet the needs in the community to provide health-promoting food directly to the homes of people who need it.

1988 Open Hand was founded by Michael Edwards-Pruitt, who rounded up his neighbors to help cook and deliver meals to 14 friends dying from AIDS who were too sick to cook for themselves.

2000 Open Hand expanded our mission to include those with non-HIV related critical illnesses, the disabled, and the homebound elderly.

2004 Good Measure Meals launched when Tom Murphy of Murphy’s restaurant in Virginia Highland started making fresh and healthy meals for his mother, who had fallen ill. He realized there was an opportunity for convenient delivery of healthy meals, and he founded Good Measure Meals in a corner of Open Hand Atlanta’s commercial kitchen.

2005 Open Hand Atlanta acquired Good Measure Meals to build a social enterprise partnership. Good Measure Meals created a financially sustainable revenue stream to fuel Open Hand’s work in the community.

2013 Open Hand’s kitchen has been in our current home at 176 Ottley Drive since 1995; our campus tripled in size in 2013-14 as we annexed our building at 181 Armour Drive.

2021 Open Hand prepared, packed and delivered nearly 5,000 meals throughout Georgia.
GENEROSITY

92 cents of every dollar raised goes directly towards providing services for our clients.

We rely heavily on the support of generous individuals to support our work. With increased demand and rising costs, your support is needed now more than ever.

28% increase in the cost of food.

3X the demand for Open Hand's services.

43% increase in the cost of gas.
